

ADMINISTRATION SEEKS TO FORCE SENATORS VOTES

Opponents Facing With- drawal of PWA Fund Allotments, Rumor

Washington, March 2.—(AP)—Struggling factions in the $4,880,000 relief bill wage dispute settled down today to await "real" concessions after three days of secret negotiating and a White House conference had failed to break the deadlock.

Meanwhile, the Washington Post said recent work over alleged use of a public works "big stick" to force votes into line on the big bill is being voiced in Capitol Hill.

The ill-feeling, the paper said, is not confined to senators who voted for the McCarran prevailing wage amendment, which is opposed by the administration. It was said to have spread among legislators who contend that pressure is being brought to bear to effect an administration victory.

PWA Money Withdrawn

The Post said that withdrawal of money on public works projects for which funds already were allocated is charged in a number of cases where senators had taken an opposition stand on the bill. One senator was described as considering bringing the matter to public attention next week in senate debate.

Democratic backers of the McCarran amendment decided last night to make new efforts toward a compromise. Senator Wagner (D. N.Y.) whose vote was cast in favor of the amendment when it won senate approval last week, indicated a belief the dispute might be settled today if the administration forces "will give a little."

The legislative jam continued to grow more serious. The senate on Monday will enter its sixth week on the relief measure which the house disposed of the way President Roosevelt wanted it in a few days. Little can be done, Senators felt until this legislation is out of the way.

Conciliation Efforts Fail
Two moves had come from the McCarran prevailing wage group in an effort to "conciliate" the controversy. Both made no impression on administration leaders.

The latter are still insisting, it is understood, that the president be permitted to pay 3,500,000 relief roll employables a "security" wage below the private standard. They say employees of private industry should not be attracted to government payrolls.

Supporters of Senator McCarran (D. Nev.) were still clinging to the prevailing wage idea. McCarran indicated he would be willing to make a change in phraseology but not in principle. He contends the "security wages" would reduce the general wage standard.

Route 2 Near Dixon to be Beautified by Highway Workers

The beautification of state highways in northwest Illinois this year by the state highway department will involve the expenditure of several thousands of dollars, according to an announcement of Phelps Vogelsang, landscape engineer for the department. A great deal of this work is to be carried on in Lee county where hundreds of trees have already been set out. Thus far, the work has centered largely on state route 70, U. S. 51.

In the east end of the county where relief workers have been engaged in removing trees which were considered dangerous to traffic and also in the planting of several hundred young trees.

Referring to the proposed program for Lee county, Mr. Vogelsang is quoted as saying:

"We have federal landscape projects on Route 51 from Rockford to Mendota, a considerable part of which is in Lee county. We expect to complete this project by fall and will plant both in the spring and fall of this year.

"We are at present doing reconstruction grading work on this section which consists of cutting down ugly banks in order to permit the planting. The work on this project consists of corrective grading and all planting of trees, vines, shrubs, ground covering, etc. This is perhaps the largest project we have in the district.

"We will also do some planting this spring on Route 2, north and east of Dixon in Lee county, and we will do some planting this spring on route 71 from its intersection with route 70 or U. S. 51 to the east Lee county line."

PROBE LONG'S CHARGES

Washington, March 2.—(AP)—Senator McKellar, chairman of the postoffice committee, said today the committee in executive session Monday would consider the resolution and charges submitted against Postmaster General Farley by Senator Long (D. La.).

DEEP IN THE RED

Washington, March 2.—(AP)—The government lived $2,249,923,235 beyond its income during the first eight months of the current fiscal year which ends June 30.

But at the close of business on February 28, this deficit was less than that for the comparable period last year when income was $2,352,170,239 behind expenditures.

Gross incomes for the eight months since July 1, was $377,000,000 ahead of last year. Expenditures were $274,000,000 larger.

General governmental costs for two-thirds of the fiscal year were $2,185,461,545 as compared with $1,826,614,865 last year. Outlays credited to emergency needs were $2,326,473,822 as against $2,401,156,615 a year ago.

The gross public debt on February 28 stood at $28,525,994,302, or about $2,500,000, higher than last year.

OVER 500 LEGAL ATTACKS ON NEW DEAL IN COURTS

Many Decisions Adverse to Administration Being Appealed

Washington, March 2.—(AP)—More than 500 tests of New Deal legislation were reported today to be pending in the federal courts of the country.

Department of Justice officials, promising to take all disputed statutes to the supreme court speedily "to find out what the law is," said that 258 of the pending cases involve the National Industrial Recovery Act.

The nub of contention in many of these is, "what constitutes interstate commerce?" Contending that manufacturing plants and business establishments are "the wells of commerce," the government has sought to regulate them under its constitutional power to control commerce between the states.

Two recent decisions on this point have gone against the administration. A federal judge at Wilmington, Del., ruled that the collective bargaining clause of the recovery act was unconstitutional as applied to the Weirton Steel Company. He said the constitution gave congress no right to regulate manufacture. On the same day a federal judge at Louisville, Ky., taking a similar view, granted an injunction against enforcement of a coal code.

May Combine Cases.
Attorney General, Cummings looks for the questions involved in both of these NRA set-backs to be settled by another case already pending in the supreme court. This is the government's appeal from the decision of the federal court at Birmingham, Ala., that the NRA and a lumber code established under it were unconstitutional. Cummings hopes the Wilmington and Louisville cases may be combined with the Birmingham litigation, which is to be argued before the supreme court next month.

Three other matters of importance to the Roosevelt administration are docketed for consideration by the nine black-robed justices next month.

Stops Slum Clearance.
The first of these is a "slum clearance" action started at Louisville, Ky. The federal court there held that the government did not have the right to condemn four city blocks for which $1,628,000 in PWA funds had been made available.

Attorneys have asked the supreme court for a ruling Monday in this case. The fate of 50 similar projects in 30 different cities may be affected by the decision. The precedent established might determine the extent of slum clearance work to be attempted in (Continued on Page 2)

Over 17,600,000 Checks Issued to Relief Clients in January In- complete Compilations Disclose

Washington, March 2.—(AP)—Although exact information was unavailable, estimates in government quarters today indicated that persons on Federal payrolls last month or who had received payments by virtue of the FERA, AAA and PWA laws exceeded 17,600,000.

These figures included those who received direct or work relief payments, but not their dependents. The relief administration has estimated that 20,600,000 are dependent upon it.

Half a dozen departments had the payroll data in part, and none was in position to put it together to the satisfaction of all the others.

RUMOR MORGAN MAY DESERT U. S. FOR BRITAIN

Financier Reported to be Planning Residence in England

London, March 2.—(AP)—Much interest was evident today in coming sales of art treasures of J. P. Morgan in London, but there was little speculation as to whether he would desert Wall Street for the life of an English country gentleman.

Announcement that his miniatures would be sent here for auction caused dealers to foresee the possibility that other works of art would come to London as the financier proceeds with partial liquidation of his estate.

England's tastes, concentrated wealth and nearness to continental centers provided a good market for such objects.

Has Two Homes There

Should Morgan come here to live, he would have no house hunting to do. For many years he has maintained both a London town house and a country home. He is a well known figure at Watford, Hertfordshire, site of his country estate maintained in the fashion of any English landed baron. There are many farm agents, gamekeepers and servants.

Fine blooded stock is but one of the features of the estate. Hogs have been entered a number of times in the neighboring shows, which correspond to the American county fairs.

The Morgan town house is located in a quiet square of exclusive Mayfair.

House Fully Staffed
It is said that the house always is fully staffed, with even the beds turned down, and that all is ever in readiness to entertain the master or any of his friends who happen to be visiting in London.

The financier, a keen sportsman, on his last visit to the British Isles spent most of his time grouse shooting in Scotland, getting fine bags each day.

J. P. Morgan's plan to auction his collection of miniatures in London was announced at his New York offices Tuesday. About 900 miniatures among them some of the best extant, are involved. The collection has been appraised at $600,000, but art dealers said it was impossible to estimate what they would bring on the open market.

Already this year Morgan has sold six paintings for $1,500,000 and had placed on the market two es-

Was Death of Heiress, Recent Bride, Accident, Suicide, Murder? Query

Officials Continue the Probe of Death of Mrs. Davidson

Pinehurst, N. C., March 2.—(AP)—

Solicitor Roland Pruett, investigating the mysterious death of Mrs. H. Bradley Davidson, Jr., pretty 22-year-old heiress of E. M. Statler, said this morning he had developed information apparently at variance with testimony at the inquest hearing.

Among other things, Solicitor Pruett said further investigation of the carbon monoxide death theory was "certainly necessary."

Found slumped in her automobile in a closed garage Wednesday morning after spending practically all night at a charity ball and night club, Mrs. Davidson was first said to have died at Moore county hospital. Pruett said today, however, that he was reliably informed rigor mortis had started to set in when servants first discovered the young woman. Also, he said, instead of being in the driver's seat of the car, the body was in a kneeling position on the running board, the head lying across her arms on the floorboards.

Accident, Suicide, Murder?

Summing up the case Pruett said the evidence unearthed was insufficient to indicate whether the bride of two months was victim of an accident, suicide or murder.

"It is a peculiar situation," said Pruett, "for a woman to go for an early morning ride with only mules, a skirt and a sweater."

"Other facts include one that the butler got up at 7:30, looked in front of the home for the car and discovered that it was in the garage."

"He made no investigation immediately but went to the garage to wash the car and found the body. The body was still warm at the time—9:05 A. M."

Inquest in Recess

The coroner's inquest was in recess until Tuesday, when the young woman's husband, Bradley Davidson, 41, guests and servants at the home will be asked to testify. Included are Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Campaigne of New York, the Davidsons' house guests.

Available evidence showed, the investigating authorities said, that the Davidsons and the Campaignes attended a charity ball the previous night and arrived home in the small hours of the morning.

Davidson, member of a prominent Washington family, said he and his wife occupied separate rooms and that her absence was not noted until the butler found her slumped in her car in the garage.

A preliminary examination showed Mrs. Davidson's death was caused by carbon monoxide poisoning.

Farm School Will Study Preparation of Seed Bed Monday

The study of seed bed preparation and cultivation, postponed from last week's Monday night Farm Evening School class because of the discussion on types of seed corn, will be held at the regular session of the group, Monday night.

Cold weather prevented a large attendance last week, but if conditions are milder next week a large group of Lee county farmers is anticipated. Subjects on the program for study before the course ends, include fertilization and soil types for corn production, the chinch bug situation, marketing and harvesting of corn, and other miscellaneous points overlooked in other sessions.

The agricultural short course conducted by John N. Weiss, high school agriculture teacher, was designed to study "Corn Production" six weeks ago. Four more sessions remain. Enthusiasm and interest have marked each week's gathering.

Two Dixon Speakers at Princeton Meet

Two Dixon speakers appeared on the program at a meeting held at the Clark hotel in Princeton last evening, which was sponsored by the Hennepin Business Men's Association, and was attended by about 200 guests. A banquet was served at 6:30 followed by a program. The meeting was called for the purpose of urging the completion of state highway route 89 under the hundred million dollar bond issue. A bridge at Hennepin remains to be constructed before the route is completed.

O. F. Goeke, chief highway engineer of the Dixon district and County Judge William L. Leech were the speakers from Dixon who addressed the enthusiastic gathering.

Speaker John P. Devine had been invited as the principal speaker but was unable to be present because of other engagements.

DEATH IS PROBED

Death came suddenly two months after marriage to Mrs. H. Bradley Davidson, Jr., 22, above, the former Elva Statler, heiress to the hotel magnate's great fortune. A coroner's jury is probing her death in the garage of her Pinehurst, N. C., home.

RENT PAYMENTS FOR CLIENTS ON RELIEF PLANNED

IERC Announces New Activities: Added Cost $10,560,000

Chicago, March 2.—(AP)—The Illinois Emergency Relief Commission today made plans to extend its relief activities entailing an additional annual cost estimated at $10,560,000.

Two policy changes were approved yesterday by the commission to provide relief allotments to cover rent payments of relief clients, and to place 10,000 young men from Chicago relief shelters on work relief projects.

The rent payments will total $9,000,000 annually, it was estimated, and the work relief projects $1,560,000 more than is expended now for maintenance of the youths in relief shelters each year.

At the same time, the commission announced that 17 per cent of the population of counties outside of Cook county received relief during December while 13 per cent of the Cook county population was on relief rolls.

Alexander county, with 49.2 per cent of its population on relief, was highest on the December relief lists, with three other southern counties, Williamson, Hardin and Pulaski, each having more than 34 per cent on relief. Ford county received least relief, only five per cent of its citizens on rolls.

Dixon Consignment of Baby Bonds Sold First Day Offered

The new issue of government "baby" bonds which were placed on sale at the post office yesterday, met with a favorable demand on the part of Dixon purchasers.

Practically the entire allotment of bonds forwarded to the Dixon postoffice were sold on the first day and Postmaster John E. Moyer has requested an additional supply which is expected early next week. Yesterday's sales were reported to have reached a figure of about $5,000 and many seekers of the new issue placed orders which are to be filled on receipt of the additional supply.

Two Dixon Speakers at Princeton Meet

Washington, March 2.—(AP)—Reports to the treasury today indicated that more than $5,000,000 in purchase value of the new "baby" bonds were sold yesterday on the first day they were offered to the public.

Forty leading cities reported a total of $1,500,000 had been disposed of. Treasury officials explained these cities were responsible for about 40 per cent of all postal activities in the country. The $25,000 and $1,000 denominations proved the most popular in the first returns.

RELIEF ALLOTMENTS

Washington, March 2.—(AP)—The relief administration today allotted $56,576,574 for general relief in March. All grants except those to Alaska and the Virgin Islands were for the first 15 days. No grant was announced for Illinois.

DEADLOCK OVER NEW TAX BILLS SEEMS CERTAIN

Illinois Legislature in Doldrums; Show- down Impending

Springfield, Ill., March 2.—(AP)—Another relief crisis approached today as the legislature showed the usual symptoms of a deadlock over the new tax bills.

On April 15, Illinois will be called upon to turn over more millions to the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, if Federal contributions are to be continued on the matching basis.

So far, the only suggested source for the relief financing, of which the state's share is $3,000,000 monthly, is the Lewis-Williams bills to increase the sales and motor fuel taxes one cent each and to make three per cent levies on utilities and a long list of occupations and professions.

Showdown Wednesday

Next Wednesday, when both houses have open hearings scheduled on the recurring relief issue, should show whether Mayor Kelly of Chicago will actively oppose the tax proposals, whether Governor Horner will take a hand in guiding the legislature, whether the failure of the executive committee conferences means that the assembly itself will be unable to agree.

As the alternative, there has been some talk of another relief bond issue, previously discarded because of legal technicalities.

The weekend's only certainty was that another "field day" on relief will be staged at Wednesday's hearings, possibly rivaling the recent appearance of the IERC members for fireworks.

Democratic legislators apparently have not agreed upon their strategy, particularly in view of the report that the Chicago leaders are against the plan for increased or new tax levies.

Assembly in Doldrums

From the Republican minority have arisen demands that the legislature act simultaneously on relief reorganization and refinancing.

To add to the confusion, new tax plans are expected to be introduced next week. At least four bills to abolish or curtail the relief commission's power have been introduced.

Meanwhile, the 59th General Assembly is in the doldrums. The governor has not completed the appointment of the school investigating commission. Social security is on the shelf until something is done at Washington. Congressional reapportionment and other administration recommendations also have been held up.

Continuing its schedule for short hours, the legislature did not send a single bill to the governor this week.

Bluebird Fails to Equal Old Record Speed During Test

Daytona Beach Speedway, Fla., March 2.—(AP)—Sir Malcolm Campbell got as much as 233,463 miles an hour on a southward run, 208,212 northward today, far below his two-year-old mark of 272,108, as he tested his giant Bluebird for further assaults on the world automobile speed record.

Under perfect weather conditions on a beach that was hard and wide but lumpy in spots, Campbell made one run south and another north before calling off the tests for the day. With his car running perfectly, except for leaks around the exhaust manifolds, Campbell is expected to go tomorrow for a new record he hopes will be as high as 300 miles an hour.

Campbell's best average two days was in the mile short of the measured mile going south, where he clicked off his best mile of the day, 233,463, and held 187,110 going back for an average of 205,653 both ways. Record speeds are determined on a basis of two way averages.

Frail English Woman, Sentenced to Death for "Mercy Murder" of Imbecile Son, is Given Freedom

Manchester, Eng., March 2.—(AP)—Freed from jail and from the noose by an act of mercy rare in British annals, Mrs. May Brownhill, 62-year-old woman who was condemned to die for the "mercy murder" of her imbecile son, returned to her home in Burnbridge today.

The frail mother, who put her son Denis "to sleep" forever with sedatives after nursing him for thirty years, was led from the doors of Strangeways prison to an automobile which carried her, pale with eagerness, to her husband and sister.

Her release was by order of the Home Secretary, whose prerogative it is not only to grant reprieve from death sentences but also to

HOLMES WORSE

Washington, Mar. 2.—(AP)—Oliver Wendell Holmes, former Supreme Court justice, was examined by his physician shortly after noon today and found to have taken a slight turn for the worse in his battle against bronchial pneumonia.

"There is no cause for alarm," Mark Howe, former secretary to the jurist, told reporters after Dr. Thos. A. Clayton, and an associate physician left the residence.

"Mr. Holmes is a little weaker, he does not seem as lively now," Howe declared.

"He is taking oxygen all the time and has been for a couple days. I don't think any digitalis is being administered."

Howe said that Chief Justice Hughes who headed the calling list today had not seen his former colleague personally.

"No one is seeing him," Howe said.

There may be a shift any minute for the better," Howe added.

TROOP 89 WINS ROCKFORD AREA CONTEST FRIDAY

Local Boy Scouts to Enter Sectional at Elgin as Result

When basketball or football teams win victories they are elated, but when Boy Scouts win an area contest their joy verges on hysterics.

At least for Troop 89, First Christian church of this city, winning the Blackhawk Area First Aid contest at the Garrison school in Rockford, Friday night occasioned an outburst of joy and pride. The reason—for now the boys journey to Elgin next Friday to participate in the State Line First Aid contest as representatives of the Blackhawk Council.

Competing against five other teams of thirty Scouts in the Blackhawk area, the Dixon troop with Kenneth Abbott as Scoutmaster amassed a percentage of 88 points in its difficult problem to capture the blue ribbon award. Second prize, a red streamer was given to Troop 168, Crystal Lake; and third prize, a white banner, was presented Troop 22, Rockford. Crystal Lake won 86 3-4 points and Troop 22, 81 1-2 points.

Members of Team

Boys of the winning troop on the team were Howard Hawkins, LeMar Wells, George Crawford, Arnold Salzman, Laverne McMillion and Junior Schrock. They were taken in automobiles to the contest by Harold G. Beltz, Lee-Ogle county area field executive, accompanied by Enos Kiehlley, Lee county commissioner, and Sterling Schrock.

Judges of the contest were American Red Cross experts of the Rockford Bell Telephone Co. They were Judges Billingham, John, Lake, Sasali, Taylor and Durant. Troops in the contest represented McHenry county, Whiteside county, Lee county, Ogle county, Rockford, and Boone county and were respectively, Troop 168 Crystal Lake; Troop 130, Fenton; Troop 89, Dixon; Troop 66, Mt. Morris;

Lee Merchant Hurt in Peculiar Manner

(Telegraph Special Service)

Lee, March 2.—Jacob Maakestad, operator of a store in Lee, will be in bed for about two weeks as a result of an injury suffered to one knee on Wednesday while firing the furnace at his home. Mr. Maakestad was removed to the hospital at Waterman, but was expected to be returned to his home before the end of the week to remain in bed for about two weeks. A cartilage in the knee was said to have been torn while he was in the act of firing the furnace.

BELGIAN TRADE TREATY TO HURT CEMENT MAKERS

Rockford Congressman Points Out Dangers of New Agreement

Washington, March 2.—(AP)—Representative Buckbee, Republican of Rockford, Ill., said today he was investigating, with a view to taking whatever steps appeared feasible, the reciprocal trade treaty signed Wednesday with Belgium.

The pact, he said, "seriously endangers the already suffering industries in Illinois."

He referred specifically to silica sand and cement which could be imported from Belgium under lowered tariffs.

"America gains little and loses much under the treaty," he said.

"In my district, at Utica, is the silica sand capital of America," he said, "and throughout my district are cement factories."

Would Cut Employment

"Under treaty the tariff on silica sand—used in plaster-work and the manufacture of glass—is cut from $2 to $1 per ton; while the duty on cement is cut from 8 to 6 cents per hundredweight to 45 cents."

Buckbee said this reduction of duties would throw hundreds of men out of work in his district. He was not alone in his objections.

Representative Thompson, Democrat of Rock Island; Representative Arends, Republican of Melvin, and Representative Dirksen, Republican of Pekin, said they had protested what they called the "inequality" of the trade agreement.

"But I don't know what we can do about it now," said Thompson. "I have no cement factories nor silica sand pits in my district," said Arends, "but I do have farmers who appear to gain very little from Belgium's favored status."

Dirksen said he was most concerned over the treaty because "what was done for that nation also will be done for Spain, France, England and 42 other nations—many of whom manufacture cement and similar products."

LOVERS LEAPED TO DEATH FROM SOARING PLANE

Swiss Sweethearts in Bizarre Suicide at Berne Yesterday

Berne, Switzerland, March 2.—(AP)—Sweethearts who drank champagne before leaping from an airplane, were joined in death today, death prompted by a school teacher's fear of dishonor.

The tragedy was revealed yesterday when Pilot Ettinger returned in the plane to Basel airport, and white and trembling, told of the fatal leap of Charles Grieder, 25, Lausen school teacher, and Mile. Antoinette Joery, 22.

Powerless to interfere and still control the plane, he saw them leap. Police who went to the spot indicated by the pilot, found the broken bodies beside a little stream. They were placed together in a single coffin.

39 INDICTED IN
POSTAL ROBBERY
OF DEC. 6, 1932

“Boss” McLaughlin, Chicago, One of Those U. S. Accuses

Chicago, March 2.—(AP)—John J. (Boss) McLaughlin was among the 39 men the federal government accused today of conspiracy to dispose of $237,000 in bonds stolen on December 6, 1932, in a daring postal robbery.

The indictments, returned yesterday, charged 81 overt acts including allegations that the defendants held rendezvous in Chicago, New York, Springfield, Ill., Kansas City, St. Louis, St. Paul, San Antonio and Dallas, Tex., for the purpose of disposing of the bonds.

Virtually all of the men, a score of whom are already in custody, had been indicted before, but the blanket indictments were returned to facilitate return of the men to the Chicago district for a single trial.

One Actual Robber
Louis Fratto, alleged Capone gangster, was the only one named as an actual robber, but Assistant District Attorney Edward A. Fisher said that Gus Winkler, Ted Virgilio and Edgar Levensberger, all now dead, were involved in the plot.

Much of the loot has been recovered, said Chief Postal Inspector Walter Johnson. Twenty-two of the defendants were named in a second indictment charging conspiracy to have in their possession matter stolen from the mails.

Those named in the indictments charging conspiracy to dispose of the bonds included, in addition to McLaughlin and Fratto:

Thaddeus S. Stevens, Springfield, Ill.; Dodbridge Farrell, St. Louis; Harry A. Sodini, St. Paul; P. E. Colvin, Kansas City; Louis B. Krillow and Thomas H. Baird, St. Paul; Clem Ehinger, Leon H. Winters, William H. Schultz, and Joe Levine, all of Kansas City.

FIVE WARSHIPS
IN HANDS GREEK
REBELS: PURSUED

Head for Island of Crete: Bombed by Federal Planes

Athens, March 2.—(AP)—A second rain of bombs upon five fleeing warships loaded with rebels was followed today by an offer to mediate between the government and revolutionary officers. The rebels asked half an hour in which to reply.

The five vessels in which the rebels were fleeing toward the island of Crete, pursued by government aircraft and destroyers, already had suffered damage from air attacks.

Government air craft located them a second time at midday in the Aegean Sea, some 70 miles east of southern-most Greece. The effect of the second aerial barrage was not known, but other planes left the mainland to contact them.

Shortly afterwards Admiral Tipaldos made the mediation offer. This was followed by censorship being imposed on all outgoing telegrams. All opposition newspapers were banned.

Government officials estimated earlier in the day that 10 deaths among the rebels had resulted from the sudden revolt which broke last night, with several others on the government side. Further casualties could not be determined.

With the fleeing warships headed for Crete, Premier P. Tsaldaris telegraphed a direct appeal to former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos on the island to keep clear of the revolutionaries.

K.C.A.A. INDOOR TRACK CARNIVAL
OPENS TONIGHT

Cunningham, Dawson
Rivalry To Be Renewed

Kansas City, March 2.—(AP)—The Glenn Cunningham-Glen Dawson rivalry, with a comparative newcomer in the running to make it a triangular affair, will be renewed tonight on the flat oval in convention hall.

The two durable middle-distance aces from Kansas and Oklahoma together with Elton Brown of the Kansas City Athletic club, will match strides at 1,000 yards in the headline event of the revived K. C. A. A. indoor track and field carnival.

Although Cunningham is the odds-on favorite in his first indoor appearance here since he spiked his way to fame, Dawson has beaten him once and the strength of the race is closed to Brown's favorite distance, the half mile.

The event takes the place of the cancelled dual between Cunningham and Indiana's Chuck Hornbostel at the three-quarters of a mile.

On retail trade the survey reported most divisions active with no gains of consequence indicated over the previous week.

“Vangaries of the weather chiefly were responsible for the checking of the uptrend x x x. For the distribution of merchandise in nearly all lines, however, a quicker rate was reached than when the month ended.”

On wholesale trade, it was reported, “while individual orders are running larger and trade generally is progressing at a satisfactory pace, the volume of business placed in wholesale markets was smaller than that recorded a week earlier. The lull is viewed as only temporary x x x. Much of the spring buying is yet to be completed. x x x.”

SIGNS GROWING OF EXPANSION
CLAIMS REVIEW

Production Level of Manufacturing is Increasing

New York, March 2.—(AP)—Dun & Bradstreet in its weekly trade review said there has developed “a more genuine realization of the soundness of basic conditions to support the expansion toward which all indications now point.”

“The lifting of the production level of manufacturing plants and a gradual decrease in the number of unemployed skilled workers provide unquestioned proof of an accelerated rate of activity,” the review said.

“Prices on most grades of merchandise are considered to have passed definitely the low points, and advances in many items are scheduled for the immediate future.”

On retail trade the survey reported most divisions active with no gains of consequence indicated over the previous week.

MUCH TOO MUCH
By Joseph Fort Newton
"T"HE TROUBLE with the world," a reader argues, "is that there is too much of everything. It may seem strange to say so when so many people have too little of everything, but it is true."
"First of all, there are too many people and not enough wealth, work and wages to go round. Or else too many who are too selfish to share the good things of life and let others have a taste."
"Yes, too much people—crowds on crowds; life steps on life. In fact, a case of overproduction, and we have not sense enough to limit it. Wave after wave pours over us an endless human flood."
"Too much religion, too, of the kind that is long on talk and short on deeds. Hundreds of sects split up about little realities and unrealities, when all we need is a religion of love and service."
"Too many books of second-rate value, and we read them with too jaded an appetite and a too listless attention. The wisdom of the world is in a few great books full of beauty, vision and serenity."
"Too much canned culture, too many hand-me-down philosophies, pre-tasted and told in words of one syllable for coronas. Too much sampling of the opinions of others, and too little sense. We sit in an arm-chair, too lazy to dream, and twiddle the radio key hunting for some jazzy, jumpy entertainment."
"Too much cheap taste, content with a thing if it is 'not bad,' forgetting that 'not bad' is not good, when we should be able to set up a gate of wisdom and raise a little homegrown culture of our own."
"Too many movies, tawdry, empty, actorish; too much cheap glib advice telling us how to split, how to sleep, how to make love; too much bunk psychology."
"Yes, too much blab, hokum and bunk in everything; too many folk living by their wits; too many politicians; too much noise. To cap the climax, too many grumblers airing grouches—like me!"

Sweet Pickled Apricots
(Blend Well with Fish or Fowl)
4 cups apricots (seeded)
2 cups sugar
1 cup water or apricot juice
1-2 cup vinegar
1-4 cup whole cloves
1-3 cup bark cinnamon, broken
Mix ingredients and simmer 40 minutes, pour into sterilized jars and seal or store in ice box.

Cheese Rolls
3 cups pastry flour
6 teaspoons baking powder
1-2 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons lard
1-3 cups milk
4 tablespoons butter
1-2 cup grated cheese
Mix flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in lard and slowly add milk. When soft dough forms pat it out until 1-4 inch thick. Spread with butter and cheese and roll up. Cut off 1-2 inch slices and bake flat sides up on greased pan in moderate oven 12 minutes. No butter need be served.

Cocoanut Frosted Cake
1-3 cup butter
2-3 cup sugar
1-2 cup milk
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1-2 teaspoon lemon extract
1-8 teaspoon salt
1-2-3 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
Cream butter and sugar. Add rest of ingredients and beat 2 minutes. Pour into shallow pan lined with waxed paper. Cover with topping.

Topping
2 egg whites
1-3 cup sugar
1-4 teaspoon vanilla
1-4 teaspoon lemon extract
1-4 teaspoon baking powder
1-2 cup cocoanut
Beat whites and add sugar and beat until creamy. Add extracts and baking powder. Roughly spread over cake batter. Sprinkle with cocoanut. Bake 35 minutes in a moderately slow oven. Serve fresh but not warm.

BOARD WOMAN'S CLUB MEET MONDAY EVE.
The Board of the Dixon Woman's Club will meet with Mrs. O. F. Goeke, 616 N. Dixon Avenue, Monday evening March 4th.

James Bryce Wedding Nuptial Event of Today

Miss Elizabeth Ann James, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William James of Dixon, and Lawrence Bryce, son of Mrs. William Bryce of Detroit, Mich., were united in marriage at an impressive ceremony this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's Catholic church with the Rev. Father T. L. Walsh officiating at the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl James, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, were the attendants.

The attractive bride wore a smart blue sheer suit in one of the new shades, trimmed in white, with blue and white accessories. She wore a bride's corsage of pink roses, sweet peas and white freesias. The matron of honor wore a blue sheer gown with a corsage of yellow roses, sweet peas and freesias.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Hotel Dixon to the immediate relatives. Decorations for the delicious breakfast were in pink and white, spring flowers and pink tapers combining in the charming effect obtained.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryce are leaving on a motor trip to Detroit where they will reside, and where Mr. Bryce is employed by the Budd Wheel Corporation.

Out of town guests at the wedding and breakfast were Mrs. Wm. Bryce of Detroit; Dr. D. E. James of Belvidere and Mrs. P. C. Cunningham of Freeport. The bride is a charming and capable Dixon girl.

The many friends of this highly esteemed and popular young couple unite in extending best wishes to them for happiness.

O. E. S. Dance was Very Happy Affair
The dancing party sponsored by the Dorothy Chapter, O. E. S. at the Dixon Masonic Temple last evening, proved to be another of the enjoyable affairs of this season. This was a return engagement of Quin Bowen's Entertainers, and again they delighted their audience. Among the guests were members of several private parties who attended the dance to climax a pleasant evening.

Checking the Style

Colorful as the Easter parade and flattering to any figure is this knitted frock of crown rayon. It includes a trim bodice in red and white checkerboard effect and a straight Oxford gray skirt. An Ascot to match, chick Breton sailor and stitched sports gloves of suede are worn with it. (From B. Altman, New York)

The most entertaining stunt of the evening was provided by a group of four young couples of very attractive young people from Sterling who had just taken part in a floor show which was a part of the Sterling Elks entertainment. They were a very accomplished group of dancers and the young ladies all dressed alike in white satin party gowns with black trimmings and the young men in tuxedos with white button hole flowers, danced the new "La Cucaracha" Mexican dance, while members of the orchestra sang the chorus. This group of young folks have promised to attend the next party and to show an even more interesting, new dance.

The guests departed after midnight, to again tax to full capacity the various eating places, and they all declared that they had spent a most delightful evening.

Celebrate Mrs. Carl Janssen's Birthday
Wednesday evening, Feb. 20th, sixty friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Janssen to help celebrate the birthday of Mrs. Janssen. The evening was spent in cards after which a delightful luncheon was served. Upon departing all wished Mrs. Janssen many more happy birthdays.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. John Moeller and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Miller and family, Mr. and Mrs. Max Genz and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Lair and daughter, Alva, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lair, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Missman, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Fluck, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Eberley, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fluck, Mr. and Mrs. John Christ, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fluck, Glen, Gilbert and Robert Hess, all of Nelson, Victor Brechon, Lodean Thompson; Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Heldt of Dixon; Mrs. Nellie Heldt and family; Raymond Holguise of Harmon; and Harold McAndrew of Sterling.

Miss Geneva Vernier Bride Charles Hepfer
On Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock Miss Geneva Frances Vernier and Charles Hepfer were joined in wedlock at the parsonage of St. Patrick's church.

Rev. Father Thomas Green officiated at the impressive wedding service. The bride was attractively dressed in navy blue crepe with white accessories. The bridegroom was dressed in grey. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hepfer of Oregon and a graduate of the Franklin High School with the class of 1930.

Attending the couple were Miss Madeline Vernier, twin sister of the bride who also wore navy blue crepe and white accessories. Joseph Hepfer, brother of the groom was best man.

After the ceremony a wedding supper was served by Mrs. Arthur Nass, sister of the bride. Present were Mrs. Marie Vernier, mother of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vernier, Raymond Vernier and a few friends and neighbors. The decorations for the supper were very pretty in pink and white. A miniature bride and groom graced the center of the pink and white cake.

The remainder of the evening was spent in cards and dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Hepfer expect to make their home on a farm near Franklin Grove. The bride and groom have many friends who join in extending them best wishes for many happy years of wedded life.

Russell Mason Is Guest Artist in Rockford Sunday
Rockford Sun. Eve

Russell Mason, of Dixon, young composer and flutist, will appear as flute soloist in a recital at the Rockford Sunday Evening Club on March 3rd, at 7:45. The program will be broadcast by the Rockford radio station, WROK. He will also give a pre-service concert at 7:00 Sunday evening at the Christian Union church in Rockford at which time Mrs. Elmer J. Anten is to be soprano soloist, and Lloyd Thomas will speak on "The Ministry of the Radio."

Mrs. Xanten's numbers, sung with flute obligato by Mr. Mason, will be "The Wren," (Benedict); "Lo, Hear the Gentle Lark" (Bishop). Mr. Mason, the youngest member of the American Bandmaster Association, founded by the late John Philip Sousa, conducted the Dixon Civic Band in a concert at the Century of Progress in its first year.

He is composer of Quintet in C major for woodwinds, "Field of Honor," cantata for mixed voices and orchestra; "Romance," for military band; "Interlude," for organ; and several anthems and songs.

For three concert tours of the United States he was soloist and obligato flutist with Mme. Luella Mellus coloratura soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company. For three years he played first flute with the Chicago Civic orchestra, Eric Delamater, conductor; and he was first flutist for five years with the Chicago Little Symphony orchestra, George Dasch, conductor. He was flute and piccolo soloist for three summers with the Colorado Midland band, and for two years served as assistant conductor, flute, piccolo and saxophone soloist with the Mayo Brothers Band at Rochester, Minn. He was also conductor for the Pavlov-Oukrainsky ballet on a tour of the United States.

Mr. Mason's program at the Sunday Evening Club will be as follows: Suite of Three Morceaux..... Benjamin Godard
1. Allegretto..... Louis Scholl
2. Idylle..... Louis Scholl

"The skin on my face, arms and neck is smooth and clear, but my back is a sight," writes a young girl. "I can't wear backless evening gowns. Please tell me what causes this horrible condition and what I can do to remedy it."
Well, the fact that her face and arms are unblemished would indicate that there is nothing organically wrong with her and that her diet is sensible. Probably poor circulation and to put the matter bluntly, improper methods of cleansing her back are largely responsible for the defects.
It may seem a little odd, but a good many women who are particularly careful about cleaning their faces and necks, stimulating circulation with a rough wash cloth or a complexion brush, persist in merely rinsing instead of scrubbing their backs. Everyone should have a long-handled bath brush and it should be used every day, whether you bathe in the tub or under the shower.

LIMIT SHOULD BE SET ON DEFAMING WITNESS

Miss Betty Gow, the unlucky young woman whose position in the Lindbergh household caused her to make a trip all the way across the Atlantic to testify at the Bruno Hauptmann trial, has got back to England by this time, and it is going to be a long time before she forgives Edward J. Reilly, Hauptmann's lawyer.

"I was hurt more by the suspicion Reilly endeavored to cast on me than by any other thing during the trial," Miss Gow said when she reached England. "That is something I will never forget or forgive."

Now this little remark calls attention to one of the queerest angles of our judicial procedure—the seemingly limitless freedom which is given to an attorney to attack a person's reputation without introducing a single shred of evidence to support his charges.

Miss Gow, for instance, still enjoys the confidence of her former employer. At the time of the kidnaping, the New Jersey authorities went over her record with a fine-tooth comb and found nothing wrong.

She was not under the slightest shadow of suspicion on the part of those who were most interested in finding someone on whom the crime could be blamed.

Then she returned to America to testify at the trial returned of her own free will, incidentally, since there was no way of making her come back.

And immediately the Hauptmann defense began to shower her with insinuations, veiled accusations, suggestive hints, until it almost looked as if she, and not Hauptmann, were the one on trial.

This sort of thing is common in our courts. Perhaps there is no way of completely ending it. A lawyer entrusted with a man's defense must be given a certain amount of latitude; he must be allowed to suggest that his own client was not the only possible suspect in the crime and he must be permitted to impugn the motives and the character of the witnesses against him.

But—need the thing go as far as it did in this case? Has an upright, law-abiding citizen who is called on to testify in a criminal case no protection whatever?

Can we properly permit a defense to be based on the old theory that if you throw enough mud some of it is bound to stick?

Our criminal court procedure is crying for revision in several ways. One of the most important of them seems to be indicated by this complaint of Miss Gow.

There ought to be some pretty definite limit to the amount of free and easy mud-slinging that can be indulged in during cross-examination and argument.

LET CABINET SPEAK UP

Representative Byron B. Harlan of Ohio has introduced a bill which would require cabinet members to appear regularly on the floor of House and Senate to answer questions about pending legislation.

Such arrangement would draw us a step closer to the English parliamentary system, under which cabinet members are closely involved in the legislative process.

It is not clear, of course, that we should go all the way in copying the good points of this system, but to subject federal department heads to congressional quizzing at regular intervals might be an exceedingly wholesome reform.

Under Representative Harlan's plan, a cabinet member would appear on the Senate floor each Tuesday and on the House floor each Thursday. He would be entitled to participate in the debates, and he would be required to answer such questions as the members might put to him.

As a means of keeping the legislative branch in closer touch with the plans and actions of the executive, there is much to recommend this proposal.

HEAVY SNOWS WELCOME

Judging by news dispatches from various parts of the country, the United States as a whole is suffering a much more severe winter than it had a year ago. And while this isn't especially pleasant, for that large majority which likes its snow in moderate doses, it may be a pretty good harbinger for the coming summer.

The destructive drouth of last summer was not simply a matter of deficient summer rainfall; deficient winter snows also had a part in it.

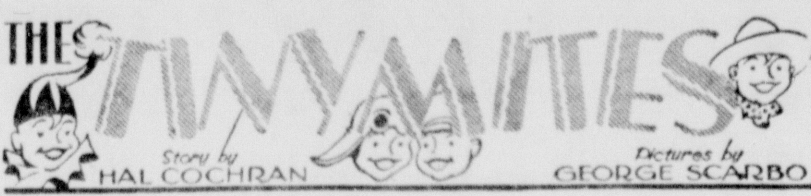

The mountain reservoirs for our streams, depending on heavy blankets of melting snow, were not properly filled during the cold months. Water levels everywhere were lowered as a result.

The heavy snows that are reported all over the United States right now should at least relieve us of that difficulty this year.

The Tinies watched the giant as he crawled into his home. "He has a pretty tough time," Duncy said. "I'd rather walk in, straight. "Imagine having to drop to your hands and knees. "I would never do. Before I'd move into a house too small, I'd hesitate.

"Well, he seems fairly satisfied," said Dotty. "Come, let's go inside, and maybe he will tell us why he picked a home like this.

"Our going in will not be tough. The door is plenty high enough. A look around this house is something I would hate to miss."

And so they all rushed right inside and, promptly, the old giant cried. "You see, I flop down on this couch, where I can stretch 'way out.

"I guess you won't blame me at all. I need my rest, 'cause I'm so tall. Now, gather 'round. I'll tell you what my life is all about."

Wee Goldy shouted, "Oh, please do! We'll all be quiet till you're through. Just tell us how you grew so big, and we'll be satisfied.

"We hardly grew at all, you see, and it's as puzzling as can be."

And then the happy Tinies quickly gathered by his side.

"When I was young," the giant said, "some strange thoughts popped into my head. One day I found a wishing stone and thought I'd try it out.

"Like other folks, I never was quite satisfied with life, because I wanted to be different. You've felt the same, no doubt.

"One day I held the stone real tight and then I wished with all my might that I would grow real tall. As you can see, my wish came true.

"It only goes to show you, tots, that wishing sometimes brings you lots of trouble. Just be satisfied, is my advice to you."

(The giant pulls a very funny stunt in the next story.)

Fills Needs Of Cars and Trucks

DIXON AUTO PARTS CO. HAS COMPLETE STOCK.

Many of us fail to appreciate the value of an institution such as the Dixon Auto Parts Co. to the people of this section. Often times we take our car to our garage man, with the request that he give us immediate service. We do not stop to consider that it is practically impossible for any garage to maintain a stock of auto parts and accessories for every make of automobile. Then, too, the individual motorist often times desires to replace parts himself in his car and nowhere will you find a more complete and authentic line of parts than at this concern. A service and completeness of stock such as is found at the Dixon Auto Parts Co. is an indispensable factor in our modern progress.

There one finds a complete line of automobile parts and accessories—victrols, rings, pins, gears, shafts, tires and batteries for every make of car. Every item of merchandise purchased there will be found to be just as representative of this reputable firm. In the machine shop they have all modern equipment for general machine shop work, cylinder re-boring, etc. They will make deliveries both local and out of town, covering a radius of 50 miles. Parts may be mailed to you, if you make your needs known by phone or mail. All of their employees are familiar with automobiles and you will find them courteous and accommodating at all times.

The Standard Bearer girls of the Methodist church under the leadership of their counselor, Mrs. R. Schaller, sponsored a very lovely and original banquet in honor of their Mystery Mothers in the parlors and dining room of the church Wednesday evening. The guests and their hostesses met in the church parlors at 6:30 and after the introductions, which were accomplished by means of well known old fashioned expressions corresponding to modern slang expressions, the mothers were escorted by their daughters to the dining room where the "Standard Bearer Welcome" was sung.

The tables, which were arranged in the form of a cross, were charmingly decorated. Narrow streamers of rainbow colors, attached to a pretty inverted Japanese parasol suspended above the center of the tables, ran to each plate above which miniature Japanese lantern place cards were fastened. Larger Japanese lantern booklets of rainbow colored leaves contained the menu, program, and pledge and the color scheme was further carried out in nut cups and napkins in rainbow colors, and pink candles. The attractive table favors were Japanese ladies in gowns of rainbow shades with fans and pompons in harmonizing colors.

The menu, consisting of ham loaf, potatoes, gravy, creamed peas and carrots, salad, rolls, jelly, tea, glorified rice and wafers, was served by the ladies of the Missionary Society. During the supper Miss Dorothy Dean, president of the Standard Bearer, gave the welcome to the mothers which was responded to by Mrs. Richard Sunday, president of the Missionary Society and, incidentally, Dorothy's Mystery Mother. At the close of the supper the mother and daughter pledges were very impressively given.

Returning to the parlors the guest mothers listened to an unusually interesting program: Clarinet duet ..... Dorothy Dean and Martha Mall Reading ..... Mary Heinzeroth

IGOE BOOSTED AS SUCCESSOR TO GREEN'S JOB

Green Still Serves Federal Court Appointment

Washington, March 2.—(AP)—Friends of Michael L. Igoe, Democratic representative at large from Chicago, were boosting him to succeed Dwight Green as district attorney for northern Illinois. Igoe, himself, has expressed willingness to accept the appointment, when and if it be offered him.

Senator Lewis, on whose shoulders would fall the heaviest responsibility for recommending a candidate, has consistently avoided answering whether Igoe is being considered.

"Mr. Green is still serving under an appointment of the federal courts in Chicago," the senator said. "The Department of Justice has given no indication that it wishes to make a change—at least not until Mr. Green has concluded certain important cases now pending."

Igoe's friends here, however, say they are anxious that Igoe be given the post before Illinois is congressionally redistricted, as now planned, they say, the two posts as representative-at-large would be abolished.

It would then be necessary for Igoe to oppose one of his Democratic colleagues in Chicago, should he wish to be reelected, or to run for the senate.

Should he wish to run in 1936, it would be necessary for him to oppose the incumbent, Senator Lewis, who has refused to date to discuss his plans, but whose friends insist he "is as much of a candidate now as in 1930."

Igoe has declared he would not oppose Lewis.

Congressional reapportionment of Illinois finds that state's delegation much disturbed. Republicans and Democrats alike discuss the question, which has been hanging fire since the 1930 census.

The majority of the Chicagoans favor redistricting because, they argue, their constituencies are too large. They point out that, whereas the normal district should not embrace more than 289,000 persons, Leonard Scheutz of Chicago has 889,349. Thomas O'Brien, also of Chicago, has 652,834, while Scott W. Lucas of Havana has only 158,262, and Leslie C. Arends of Melvin, has 175,353.

"HAS BEEN, IS AND WILL BE"

HARD on the Bolivian border of the embattled Gran Chaco in South America presses the tired army of Paraguay.

For two and a half years Bolivia and Paraguay have fought for this jungleland, and yet the bedraggled armies hold on grimly. In 1932 Paraguay issued a stamp showing the map of this disputed territory and carrying that country's boast, "Northern Chaco has been, is and will be Paraguay's."

Recently, Paraguay reissued this stamp, surcharged with a red C, as if to vaunt this challenge again into the faces of her enemy.

By ROBBIN.

Dixon high ended her basketball season for 1934-35 in a double victory at Mendota last night. The Junior Sharpshooters registered their sixteenth consecutive win by swamping the Mendota reserves 26-8, while the purple and white heavies chalked up a 24-16 triumph.

Dixon lights won the minor division of the N. C. I. C. and the regulars ended up in third position. Games that were lost by Sharpshooters were all close and tough ones; each DeKalb tilt was decided by two and three points, and the first Sterling contest likewise. The only Conference game that they lost had taken place at Rochelle when the Hubs dished out a seven point licking. Considering everything and the law of averages falling far-off from the Sharpshooters, the major quintet of Dixon high wound up her conference season with an excellent average, while her more fortunate understudies handed in a brilliant record that only one other school in northern Illinois can boast of: equalling that school is one of the largest educational centers in the state. The Junior Lundahimers of Rockford and the Junior Sharpshooters of Dixon have exactly the same statistics, with but one exception, Rockford lights have won seventeen while the Dixon minors fall one game short with sixteen straight victories.

Friday's Encounter.
Last night's major tilt saw Mendota leading 16-14 as the third quarter ended, the Sharpshooters were helpless and could only hold their own with Mendota until the fourth period, in that final stanza, they scored twelve points and held their foes scoreless.

Bob Evans and Marv Rebuck tied for scoring honors, each with three baskets apiece, and they registered twelve scores for the Sharpshooters. "Pony Boy" Underwood and Dan Fane connected with five points each, while "Reget" Flanagan "swished" a high archer. Dick Durkes did not score a point, but it was his excellent ball handling that resulted in a goodly share of the local scores.

Tower led Mendota via the high point route with two swishers and two gift tosses. Gilkey came through with two buckets, while Faber and Whitmore each scored two points.

JUNIOR'S VICTORY

Al Boyd, the good ole "Fair-Headed Child" of Sandwich, again paced the undefeated Junior Sharpshooters in last night's encounter. Scoring three field goals and four gift tosses he far surpassed any other individual point maker. Boyd was the main cog in the Dixon minors offense, his eagle eye is one of the main reasons for the Dixon lights going through this season without a loss at DeKalb. He scored the winning basket in the last twenty seconds of play, and at Sterling he proceeded to swish them from all angles of the court. These two tilts are undoubtedly the nights that Al figures he was hitting best, his floor work and brilliant handling of the ball, helped the Junior Sharpshooters out of many tight spots and gave them a name that is only equalled by one other school. This is his last year of high

HOME COURSE IN PIANO PLAYING—LESSON NO. 4

Key of E Minor relative of G Major.

Copyright, 1927, by W. Scott Grove, Scranton, Pa.

The fourth lesson in this series of twenty-four lessons of the modern method of instructions for the piano or organ according to system originated by Mr. Grove, takes up the key of E Minor. It is proposed to give in this complete series all of the fundamental chords used in musical composition. There will be twenty more lessons before this twenty-four lesson course in music is completed. The pupils are expected to learn these chords so that they can be played almost intuitively. This means diligent practice. When this lesson has been mastered the students will be fully qualified to take up the study of the fifth lesson which will be next presented.

INSTRUCTION—Place chart upon the keyboard of piano or organ so that the small letter D with a dash above it, at the bottom of the chart, is directly over the key D on the keyboard. The white and black spaces will then correspond to the white and black keys. Each of the three horizontal series of letters represents a chord. Beginning with the upper row, play the white letter with the left hand and play the three black letters in unison with the right hand, making the first chord. Then, in the same way, play the notes indicated in the second horizontal series, then those in the third and back to the first, forming a complement of chords in E Minor.

The first things necessary to become a good player are patience and practice. During the time before the next lesson the chord shown should be played over and over again until you memorize it and can play it without the chart. Memorize the letters also. You will find that before long you will be able to play simple accompaniments in this key to any melodies you or your friends may sing.

If you wish to go further in studying, learn the fingering of the scales shown on the staff in each chart, upper notes played with right hand, lower with left hand.

Every third in black letter is marked 1, 3, 5. Always read it so, no matter in what vertical order the notes may be written. Note that the small letter D with a dash above it must not be played.

Never play small white letter D with a dash above it.

1934 CHAMP IS ELIMINATED IN CATHOLIC MEET

Race Thrown Wide Open In Quarterfinals Cage Meet

Decatur, Ill., March 2—(AP)—With the defending champion, Corpus Christi of Galesburg, out of the running, the Illinois Catholic high school basketball tournament went into the quarterfinal round today.

Spalding of Peoria, a four-time winner of the title, eliminated the Galesburg five yesterday in the first round, 32 to 29, after a brilliant battle. Most of yesterday's battles were settled by decisive margins, but Central of East St. Louis, and Fenwick of Oak Park, advanced only after sizzling battles.

Central took a hair-raiser, 28 to 27, from Cathedral of Springfield, while Fenwick outpointed Routt of Jacksonville, 19 to 17.

Eliminated Cathedral

St. Bede of Peru, eliminated Cathedral of Belleville, 29 to 16, and Marrison of Rockford, trounced St. Joseph of Cairo, 26 to 15. The other St. Joseph—from Rock Island, bowed to Trinity of Bloomington, 38 to 25, while St. Patrick of Kankakee displayed power in trouncing St. Thomas of Rockford, 34 to 13.

Quincy Academy broke away in the final period to defeat the host school, St. Teresa of Decatur, 16 to 8, in the defensive gem of the day.

Marrison and Central of East St. Louis, were slated to open today's firing, with Spalding and St. Patrick clashing in the other afternoon game. St. Bede and Quincy academy open the night schedule, and will be followed by Fenwick and Trinity of Bloomington.

Teams eliminated yesterday headed into the first round of the consolation tournament this morning.

KNACKS MEET I. N. U. QUINT FOR SECOND

State Hospital And Ashton Collide in Opener

With the Beler Bakers firmly ensconced on the throne of the Commercial basketball league, sporadic warfare will continue Tuesday in the scramble of the less fortunate teams to land as high a rating as possible before the season ends.

Opening the Tuesday night set- tings will be the clash between the Dixon State Hospital and the Ashton Blacks. For the hospital unit, this will represent the last chance, to bring home another victory as company for their one triumph housed with nine losses. The opportunity is not what most teams would consider golden. Ashton has proven a bitter cup for most teams who have tasted it. Last week, however, after a surprising comeback from the lower division, Ashton was forced to capitulate to the champion Beler men. The State Hospital quint riddled by injuries all season will be stronger than they have been, Tuesday, since most of the cripples are back in action again.

Challenge I. N. U.

The Knacks Leaders challenge the I. N. U.'s right to second place at 8:15 P. M. Tuesday night in the second game of the evening. Rebuffed unexpectedly by the Amboy Legionnaires, Wednesday, the Knacks figure on closing the night's slate with a victory. The Utilities team ends a rather tempestuous second round season in hopes of being on form. The Red and White had their biggest relapse against the Knacks when they met before and lost 43 to 12. If Lebre Bros. Inc. Underwood, or "Slats" Hasselberg find their basket eyes, the I. N. U. may be able to show the Knacks a few pointers, as well as points.

Refereeing the contests will be members of the title-crowned Beler Loafers, and as champions their decisions will be as valid as any other referee.

BABE RUTH GIVES BRITON CRICKET ACES NEW IDEAS

Empire Players Are Enlightened On Salary Peaks

London, March 2—(AP)—Babe Ruth, the man who did more than any other to make baseball salaries what they are today, has started a red-hot movement to improve the financial lot of England's professional athletes.

The Babe doesn't know it, but a few of his muttered remarks during his recent visit here may prove the inspiration for a new and better deal for the soccer player and the cricketer. His visit and his remarks, at least, have awakened both public and players to a realization that $40 a week is not an enormous salary.

"Forty bucks a week top pay?" ejaculated the Babe. "What a racket that is. What's chances of me buying into one of those football or cricket clubs?"

While the assembled newspapermen were not too impressed with the Babe's diplomacy, they were forced to admit that he had hit the nail somewhere near the head. Ever since, as though it had just occurred to them, they have been suggesting in print that a man like Alex James, the "Babe Ruth of Soccer," might be worth a trifle more than $40 every Saturday.

That, of course, is the maximum salary a player in the British football association may be paid, though some of them, like James, add anywhere from 20,000 to 30,000 to the size of the crowd everytime they play.

A star cricketer who works at his job twelve months of the year, can make around $3,000. The Babe's remarks might result in getting him a slight raise. Who knows?

SIR MALCOLM IS POISED FOR SPEED RECORD

Attempt Depends On the Beach Condition Today

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 2—(AP)—This was Sir Malcolm Campbell's day, the one he has waited weeks for, but whether it held for him a new world speed automobile record above his own mark of 272.108 miles an hour or a mere 200 miles an hour, or 100, or no trial at all rested entirely with the white sands of the wave-washed beach.

A final survey at last night's low tide before the waves started sweeping in, covering the 11½ mile strand with another tide that doesn't recede entirely until 10:27 A. M. CST, today, showed the beach was holding its own. It's still far from perfect, soft in spots and somewhat lumpy. But it is so much better than it has been through three weeks of nerve wracking waiting that Sir Malcolm was determined to make his second test run.

"The wind is shifting somewhat," Sir Malcolm said after riding over it in his pleasure car last night, "but the beach is fairly good. Unless this tide coming in now does unexpected damage, I shall run."

How fast he would run was a question of the beach alone. Bluebird, the rebuilt 2,500 horse power roaring chariot in which he set the present mark two years ago, has been tuned and ready for more than two weeks. All the "bugs" that developed in the first test run ironed from her seven ton system.

CHANCE SUN IS KENTUCKY DERBY HOPE

Won $83,985 Last Year For Joe Widener

Louisville, Ky., March 2—(AP)—Chance Sun, the outstanding two-year-old of 1934, and a score of other leading stake winners as juveniles are among 110 thoroughbreds nominated today for a try May 4 at the country's greatest horse race.

The list is somewhat smaller than in recent years, but it contains practically every one of the nation's three-year-olds, that has been conceded a chance to become the 1935 Kentucky Derby winner.

Chance Sun, which topped the list last year with $83,985 in winnings, will be the sole dependence this year of Joseph E. Widener to win the $40,000 added Kentucky classic. He rules as winter book favorite and recently was quoted at 6 to 1.

Among other outstanding contestants are Psychic Bid, Plat Eye, Try Sympathy, St. Bernard, Wise Prince, Sailor Beware, Brannon, Omaha, Blackbird, Boxhorn Vicaress, Esposa, Commonwealth, Polish Beau, Special Agent, Sound Advice, Roman Soldier, Pitter Pat, Gallant Prince, Good Flavor, and the Calumet Farm's great filly, Nellie Flag.

William Woodward leads the nominators for the 61st Derby with seven. His list includes such likely performers as Omaha, Gallant Prince, Pitter Pat and Vicaress, the first two are sons of his Gallant Fox, which won the 1930 Derby.

The Calumet Farm has six nominees, the only outstanding one being Nellie Flag whose $57,240 winnings last year came second to the total turned in by Chance Sun. Four other owners, Alfred G. Vanderbilt, Mrs. Dodge Slocum, W. Sharpe Kilmer and Mrs. F. C. Mars each named four. The Vanderbilt and Milky Way Farm eligibles based on their two-year-old record contain no outstanding prospects. Mrs. Sloan's Brookmeade Stable, which sent the great English bred Cavalcade to victory in last year's Derby has at least two good chances this year in Special Agent and Psychic Bid. Try Sympathy is Kilmer's best bet this far ahead of the race.

The colts as usual far outnumber the others named, there being 73 of them to 28 geldings and nine fillies.

GOMEZ, ANNOYED BY YANK SALARY, IS A HOLDOUT

Stays Away From Florida Camp For Awhile

New York, March 2—(AP)—Ver-non (Goofy) Gomez, the slender southpaw who led the American League pitchers both in games won and lost and in general effectiveness last season, is the first Yankee holdout of the year. And there are no halfway measures about his salary demands.

Returning yesterday from his world tour, Gomez found a contract calling for the same $13,500 stipend he got last year. He promptly told Ed Barron, Yankee business manager, he wanted just twice as much on a two-year proposition. A 30-minute discussion failed to straighten out their differences although Barron announced that he had made "a mighty good proposition."

It was understood the offer was for a two-year contract at an annual salary of between $15,000 and $20,000 and that Gomez had no intention of settling for less than the latter figure.

"I haven't had a raise in three years and I feel I've got a big one coming. If I don't get the money when I'm going good, when can I expect to cash in?" said El Goofy as he announced his firm intention of staying away from the Yanks' St. Petersburg, Fla., training camp until something is done.

MANHATTAN IS FAVORED FOR NEW I. C. WINS

Harvard, Columbia, Yale Are Big Rivals

New York, March 2—(AP)—Favored to repeat its bombshell triumph of a year ago, Manhattan college's track and field array will defend the I. C. 4-A team championship in Madison Square Garden tonight.

It will take the breaks, as always in this meet, but Pete Waters' pupils seem to pack the all-around strength to stave off the challenges of Manhattan's principal rivals—Harvard, Columbia, Yale, Cornell and New York University.

Individually, there are at least a half dozen outstanding favorites, none of them from Manhattan, but the first five places in each variety event will count in the team race and Manhattan expects to pick up plenty of seconds, thirds and fourths.

Illinois College, North Central To Settle Loop Crown

Illinois collegiate conference basketball teams will be interested in the outcome of tonight's tussle between Illinois College and North Central at Jacksonville.

Parties one and two, the contestants, want to win—for North Central it will mean an undisputed title with eight wins and no losses; for Illinois a tie with Western Teachers for the championship with 12 victories and one defeat.

Macomb wants the Blueboys to win so they can meet them for a chance at the top laurels.

BADGERS BID FOR BIG TEN TITLE TONIGHT

Illinois Favored To Re- peat Over Min- nesota

Chicago, March 2—(AP)—Wisconsin will reach for the victory carrying at least a piece of the Western conference basketball championship tonight at Chicago.

While the Badgers, within reach of their first title or share of the honors since 1929, are trying to get around Bill Harlow and the rest of the Maroons, two of the other three contenders, Illinois and Indiana, run into serious opposition. The Illini meet Minnesota at Champaign, while Indiana tackles Northwestern at Evanston. Of the title aspirants, only Purdue will be idle.

Even though the Wisconsin-Chicago match pits the leader with the taller, the Badgers may run into all kinds of trouble. They managed to outpoint the Maroons by only two points in their meeting at Madison, after trailing most of the way. Their problem will be to stop Harlow, the leading scorer of the conference.

Illinois figures to repeat its victory of last week over Minnesota, but Indiana probably will find Northwestern a handful. The Hoosiers won, 36 to 32, at Bloomington, but the Wildcats will have whatever advantage their own floor offers.

Ohio State closes an unexpectedly successful season at home with Michigan a steepest opposition. The Buckeyes did not figure as a title candidate at the start of the season but were in the running most of the way.

Wisconsin faces the Maroons with eight victories and two defeats. By getting past Chicago and beating Purdue at LaFayette Monday night they will have a clear claim to the championship. Whipping Purdue on the Boilermakers' hardwood, however, may turn out to be quite a chore.

The 1935 Plymouth, announced as a "high-speed safety car," is on display here. Streamlined in design, the new Plymouth is three inches longer than previous models—189 inches from bumper to bumper. The torpedo-shaped all-steel body fits over the frame and is bolted to the frame horizontally and vertically at 46 different points, instead of the usual 18. The six-cylinder high compression engine develops 82 horsepower and runs as cool as 80 miles an hour as previous engines did at 50 miles an hour. This results in long life and reduced oil consumption.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

A TURTLE BECAME A NATIONAL POSSESSION ON THE ISLAND OF MAURITIUS! ITS AGE WAS UNKNOWN, BUT IT LIVED THROUGH MUCH OF THE ISLAND'S HISTORICAL PERIOD AND WAS MENTIONED IN TWO TREATIES.

4,000,000 REINDEER CAN LIVE AND THRIVE ON THE REINDEER MOSS THAT GROWS IN ALASKA.

THE giant tortoise shown above spent 160 years on the Island of Mauritius. From there it was removed to England. The age of the reptile is not known, since it was of great size when brought to Mauritius from the Island of Aldabra. No one knows the age limits of these rugged creatures.

DAILY HEALTH

THE EPILEPTIC PERSONALITY

The old Greeks believed that a man's character was his destiny. Modern medicine believes that a man's personality influences his medical destiny.

While today we do not subscribe to the classification of human beings so strongly believed in by medieval physicians, we do know that there are definite constitutional and temperamental types.

Psychiatry lists numerous personality types. Among these is to be found the so-called epileptic personality. Thus, epileptics as a class are described as more egocentric (concerned and interested in themselves, their reactions etc., not necessarily selfish) and more sensitive than the rest of the community. Their emotional instability is usually marked.

Now, the question is asked: In epilepsy, is the personality a product of the abnormality, or does the personality contribute to the abnormality?

For one thing, it is easy to conceive how any child liable to fits must be regarded as peculiar by those around him, and because of this and similar conditions, may develop those traits which we describe as "the epileptic personality."

On the other hand, it is not uncommon to find a history of irritability and peculiar emotional reactions preceding by hours or days an epileptic seizure, the oddities of the personality disappearing after the epileptic fit has, so to say, discharged the nervous irritability.

The problem is of more than academic interest. It stands to reason that if the environment contributes to the epileptic personality, then improving the environment should reduce the frequency and the severity of the seizures.

Some work on this problem has been done recently in Baltimore, and while it is not conclusive, it suggests that particularly in the case of children, much can be accomplished by rendering more favorable the surroundings of the epilepsy sufferer.

WILBUR LUMBER CO. ALSO SUPPLY COAL OF HIGH QUALITY

Throughout Dixon's trading district the Wilbur Lumber Company has won repute. Through quality products and superior service, backed by years of fair business dealings, this firm has shown steady growth year after year. Their dealers are as substantial as the materials they sell. They know that a satisfied customer is the best advertisement they can have, and have built their business accordingly.

At the Wilbur Lumber Co. they have made concerted efforts to aid the public, securing for their customers the best that can be had in lumber, coal and building materials of all kinds. They are able to buy in such quantities that they can supply their patrons at the most reasonable prices.

With their modern and complete lumber and coal yard and stock of building materials and supplies of all kinds, they are equipped to furnish anything and everything in the fuel and building line.

They maintain a service department whereby they not only assist one in their building plans but will give the exact cost of materials needed, and are able to furnish the desired information pertaining to the construction. This service is free, and can be obtained upon request. They are only too glad to give information to contractors or those who are planning to build, remodel or repair a home or structure of any kind.

The lumber yard is operated under the personal management of Mr. C. Richard Wilbur. He and his employees are residents of the Dixon section, whose interests are in this region, first, last and always. Citizens of Dixon are fortunate in having such an up-to-the-minute local firm at their service.

Do you know how many years the Wilbur Lumber Company has served our community?

HARRIS THEATRE

Probably no play in recent years has created as much discussion as "The First Legion," the comedy romance of Faith which begins a limited engagement at the Harris Theatre, Chicago, on Monday evening, March 4th.

Just as Sierra's "The Cradle Song" gave to the world at large an ideal picture of every day happenings in convent life, so in Emmet Lavery's outstanding dramatic success, "The First Legion," are theatergoers presented with a perfect idea of life in a Jesuit house of studies.

"The First Legion" does not preach, even if it is a story of a house of Jesuit fathers who are confronted with a problem when a reputed miracle starts a pilgrimage of the sick and suffering to their shrine. How this in particular affects the lives of three priests, is the dramatic idea back of the plot. Religion but not of creed or dogma, forms a background. But the religion it touches is the universal struggle of all religion to keep "the faith," and that is why "The First Legion" appeals to everyone, no matter what their convictions. It offers a fine play, superbly acted.

Chicago is the fourth city in which "The First Legion" will be seen. It enjoyed a four months run at the Biltmore Theatre in New York, where it headed "The White List" of current playing throughout the entire engagement. It was seen in Philadelphia and the engagement at the Harris follows a six weeks' run in Boston. While the engagement in Chicago is announced for two weeks only, it is believed that here as elsewhere the favor of the play will require an extension of bookings.

Bert Lytell of motion picture and stage fame is the star and his associates include such distinguished players as Charles Coburn, Whitford Kane, William Ingersoll, Thomas Findlay, Leonard Lord, Michale Worth, Dick Wallace, Sydney Riggs, Howard Miller, and Carroll Ashburn.

There are matinees on Wednesday and Saturday at the Harris.

RISLEY'S SAND & GRAVEL CO. WELL KNOWN LOCAL FIRM

Few people realize why an architect or construction engineer always specifies that the sand, gravel and crushed stone should be washed and requires that it come from the plant of a reputable dealer. It is because each material that enters into good construction should be of a kind and quality that is proven by test to be the best. To the average person sand is sand and gravel is just gravel, but it is of utmost importance to a construction job of any kind to know just what particular grade it is proper to use to insure the best results.

Risley's Sand and Gravel is a local firm that has gained an enviable reputation throughout this entire district.

Real estate projects are greatly aided by the graveling of roads and driveways. The property that is not provided with a all-weather outlet makes a very poor appearance to the prospective purchaser. If your driveways need graveling, or you are contemplating having one built, you will find it advantageous to purchase the material from this firm.

Under the direction of E. C. Risley, the president and general manager, this long established enterprise maintains a plant that is equipped with every modern appliance for the economical and proper handling of the sand and gravel and the business methods of the firm are of a high character.

Do you know how long Mr. Risley has been in this business?

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GALE HENDERSON, pretty and 23, works in a silk mill. She and her 19-year-old brother, PHIL, support their invalid father.

STEVE MEYERS, who also works in the mill, asks Gale to marry him. She delays giving her answer.

Gale goes skating, breaks through the ice and is rescued by BRIAN WESTMORE, whose father, now dead, built the mill. Brian has come home after two years in Paris, ready to take his place in the mill.

VICKY THATCHER, daughter of ROBERT THATCHER, general manager of the mill, schemes to marry Gale and in return, contriving to meet Gale, she tells her that she (Vicky) and Brian are engaged to be married. Brian, believing Brian has been amusing himself at her expense, is deeply hurt. She refuses to see him again.

Phil loses his job. Brian, trying to forget Gale, turns to Vicky. Gale and JOSE GRIDLEY discuss the mill workers' attempt to organize. LEO A. HOLLEN, believed to be a company spy, appears and they fear she has overheard them.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIX
JOE GILLASPIE faced the men and women crowded into the small room. His dark hair was wadded, unruly, and his eyes were shining.

"Fellow workers," he began in a hoarse voice, "you know what we're here for tonight. You know that the bosses are trying to break us in a new way. They've tried firing us. That wasn't enough. They found out they couldn't starve us, so now they're turning us into the streets."

A gruff voice interrupted. "We got rights the same as other people—"

"Yes," Gillaspie answered, "we got rights, but what difference does that make? Do you think Thatcher cares anything about your rights? Work and go hungry, that's what he says, so he can live in a swell house with a lot of servants and ride around in a big automobile. Work and go hungry and live in the streets so him and the rest can pile up more dividends. Is that fair?"

"No!" Every voice in the room seemed to answer.

"Are you going to stand for it?"

"No!"

Gillaspie's voice rose louder. "You all know what happened to Mary Cassidy—a woman with two little children to support, thrown out of her job and then out of her home. Two more families got eviction notices today. They're going to put them out in the streets, too. And they'll put the rest of you out if they get the chance!"

"We ain't goin' to give them the chance!"

"I was a girl with flaming red hair who spoke up. Others joined in: 'You bet we ain't!'"

"No, we ain't goin' to give them the chance!" "You said it!" "We'll show 'em!"

"All right!" Joe Gillaspie's eyes flashed boldly. "I'm glad to know you feel that way. I thought you would. But you folks know, don't you, there's only one way to get what's comin' to us? We've got to fight for it!" "That's the stuff, Joe!" The voice came from the rear of the room, high-pitched, emotional. "You can lie down and take it, slave and take your cuts and be kicked out when the bosses are through with you, or you can stand up and fight. Which are you goin' to do?"

"We'll fight!" The chorus grew louder.

Gillaspie raised a hand for them to hush, went on: "If we're goin' to fight, the first thing we've got to do is get some more members. One of the rights the bosses forget belongs to us is the right to organize for collective bargaining. They don't admit we got the right to form an organization at all. Because they found out about it, four of us lost our jobs."

The girl with red hair was leaning forward. She cried out, "We're with you, Joe!" Somebody else added, "They can't scare us that way."

The speaker went on. "It's goin' to be hard work," he warned. "You all know the mill is full of stool pigeons. You've got to be awfully careful who you talk to!"

A small man with a scar on one cheek said, "I got a report to make, Joe. It's about something that happened in the shipping room. Can I make it now?"

Gillaspie said, "Sure. Go ahead."

He moved back and the man with the scarred cheek got to his feet. He said, "Fellow workers—" His voice droned on for half an hour.

It was the following afternoon.

Gale tilted the umbrella against the wind and walked more rapidly.

She didn't mind the rain; she rather liked it. It smelled fresh and clean and spring-like. Almost any other evening she would have enjoyed the walk to the drug store. It was a long walk—10 blocks in a neighborhood that was almost deserted. That was why Gale was hurrying. She wanted to get home before darkness settled down; the sky would darken early on account of the rain.

"If I'd only thought to tell Phil—!" Gale scolded herself. Phil could have taken the prescription for her father's medicine to be refilled. But she had forgotten and the bottle of medicine was empty.

Mary Cassidy was cooking the Hendersons' evening meal, so that Gale was able to slip away on the errand. Mary was trying so hard to be helpful. And she had been helpful, too. In a house Mary knew exactly what to do and how to do it. Gale thought, "She ought not to work in a mill. She ought to be home, taking care of those children."

Well, Mary wasn't working in the mill now—

Mary's troubles, during the last few days, had made Gale think much less about her own. Mary wasn't much older than Gale, but she looked years older. Alone in the world except for two helpless children—without money, without work, without anything to look forward to except a struggle for the other to speak.

Gale thought, "This is ridiculous. I won't stay any longer. I'll make an excuse and get away—anywhere."

And yet she lingered.

Miss Iva Minor.

The remains of Miss Iva Minor were brought to this place Tuesday afternoon for burial in the family lot in the Franklin cemetery.

Miss Minor was born in this community, over seventy years ago, her parents the late Mr. and Mrs. Dave Minor, were among the very earliest residents of a farm south of this place which was their home for many years. They were the parents of four children, Daniel, Iva, Rose and Hewitt. Daniel and Rose died several years ago. After the death of the parents the children continued to live on the farm. After the marriage of her brother Hewitt and his moving to Winnebago, Ill., the old homestead was sold. Miss Iva then resided among different friends, finally residing with Mrs. Christina Walker at this place for several years. After the death of her brother's wife she went to live with him at Winnebago. Her health failed and although battling very hard to recover it, there seemed to be no relief except in death which relieved a long siege of suffering, Sunday Feb. 24th. Very early in life she united with the Methodist church and remained a faithful member of the same until her death. She was a charter member of the Foreign Missionary and Aid societies, and for years in her early life taught a Sunday school class. She was a very loyal member of the W. C. T. U. Her life with its simplicity and humility, was exemplary in many ways. Her life was lived to do all possible good she could and to harm no one. She was a firm believer in once a friend, always a friend, and while health permitted practiced it. Her friends will always cherish her memory and the good she did.

Sudden Death.

This community was very much shocked Tuesday afternoon at about 5:00 o'clock when word was passed from one to another that Mrs. Hannah Conlon had died very suddenly. Although Mrs. Conlon had not been in the best of health for the past few years, still the past few days she had been feeling unusually well for her. Her daughter, Miss Maude, who teaches school in Rochelle came home about 4:30 and found her mother sitting in her chair as her custom when waiting for her daughter, death having come to her but a few minutes before the arrival of her daughter. She had prepared the evening meal, which was cooking on the stove, and it is thought she went to her chair to watch the coming of her daughter before placing the food on the table. When without a move of any kind the last chapter of her life book was closed.

Hannah Donegan Conlon was born at Morrison on July 4, 1864, and passed away peacefully at her home in Franklin Grove, Feb. 26, 1935, having reached the age of 70 years, 7 months. She was married to John E. Conlon on Nov. 7, 1886, in Morrison. To them were born four children, namely, James, Edward, Mrs. Mae Kelley, Alice Maud, all of Franklin Grove, John, Lester, the youngest, having passed away July 18, 1920. Her loving husband was taken from her on Nov. 10, 1895, and she was left to raise her four children alone, which she did with unusual care. Besides her children she leaves to mourn her loss, a granddaughter, Jane Conlon of Franklin Grove, two brothers, William Donegan of Morrison, Edward Donegan of Keokuk, Iowa, and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. James Conlon. She has been a faithful member of St. Patrick's Catholic church in Dixon for over forty years, having attended the services last Sunday.

She took a great interest in the library and was a charter member of the library board. She was also a member of the Priscilla club, the Woman's Club, the American Legion Auxiliary and the Woman's Relief Corps of Dixon. She took pleasure in her clubs and attended whenever her health permitted.

"Ma Conlon" as she was generally known in Franklin Grove will be missed by all who knew her. She was a quiet, home-loving soul, always ready to help someone.

Sleep on dear mother and take thy rest, God called you home—He thought it best. He saw your suffering on earth, and opened wide the golden gate. Though our hearts are filled with sorrow, and we miss you more and more, there will come a glad tomorrow when we'll meet on the beautiful shore.

Funeral services were held Thursday morning in the Catholic church in Dixon, Rev. Father Green having charge of the services at the church and burial which was in the Oakwood cemetery in Dixon. The casket bearers were: F. H. Hausen, E. L. Lott, Byron Breunier, Irving Banker and Charles Howard.

Sunset and evening star
And one clear call for me;
And may there be no moaning of the bar
When I put out to see.

Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark;
And may there be no sadness of farewell,
When I embark.

For though, from out our bourne
Of time and place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the bar.

High School Notes
By Frank Holley and Earl Blekking

In talks with other people, we probably all heard over-confidence laughed at. It should be! There is confidence of another sort, however—the confidence backed by the mind that knows its own powers. David had it when he met Goliath. This confidence is unassuming, but it can overcome many obstacles. In studies and scholastic pursuits we can use this to good advantage. Many times persons are hesitant in doing things because of fear of failing and being laughed at. "Make sure you're right, and then go ahead."

For use in extemporaneous speaking the following magazines are needed: Forum, the months of November to March; and Review of Reviews, for the same months. If anyone has copies which they would care to loan to Miss Schmidt, their kindness would be greatly appreciated.

Wednesday, Feb. 27th, tryouts in music were held in the high school. The contestants in the solo events, alto and baritone, were judged by Miss Wilhelm of Dixon. Announcements of winners will be made later.

Tuesday of this week the debate club held its regular meeting. The debate for this week was given by Frank Holley and Earl Blekking on the affirmative side and Georgia Lahman and Orville Fess on the negative side of the topic, "Resolved

That the Federal Government Should Own and Operate Public Utilities."

Friday evening a finished brand of basketball was displayed here in the defeat of the Harmon quint. Their 13-32 defeat was the first suffered in eleven games. In their last two games, Franklin Grove has shown the effects of early season work, starting with a team of only a few veterans, then further hampered by sickness and eligibility rules and the players moving away, the team, however, has always given its best efforts to the school.

The game Saturday night will be the last home game of the season. This game, the annual alumni tilt, is always fiercely contested.

The high school team is now pointing toward the District tournament in Dixon, March 6th, where they will play Mendota in one of the first round games. Mendota has a much larger school, but upsets have happened before. Thursday evening a game was played at Lee Center.

On Wednesday, Feb. 27th, Miss Schmidt held her dramatic and humorous reading tryouts. There were only six contestants altogether. Miss Dorothy Durkes was the judge, but it has not yet been announced who will represent Franklin Grove in these fields on March 16th, in the sub-district contest at Mt. Morris.

G. A. A. met at usual Friday. A practice game was played between the Franklin Flashes and the Tri-B's. The F. F. won 6-0.

We will play at least one game between the two teams to decide which team is better. Plans are being made for a public game between the two teams.

Child Study Class

All parents and others who are interested in Child Study Class are asked to meet at the school building Monday evening March 4th, at 7:30. Plans will be made then as to the time and place for regular meetings, the period of time over which the class will extend and the topics to be studied.

This class will be sponsored by the School Board and will be part of the vocational home-making program of the state. Word has been received from the State Library Extension at Springfield, that a loan of books will be made for the use of the members. The Parents' Magazine also will be available.

Mrs. Charles E. Holley, who will teach the class, wishes to make the work practical and to build it around the subjects that those who come into the class wish most to study. So let's get together and talk over our problems. Some subjects that may be discussed are printed below. It is suggested that you go over the list carefully, checking those topics that you would like to have included in the study and, adding others, bring it with you to the meeting Monday, or mail it in if you cannot come that night.

Suggested Subjects

1. Cultivating obedience.
2. Learning to take responsibility.
3. Gaining an understanding of mine and "thine."
4. Helping children to be happy.
5. Effects of fear.
6. Manners in home, school and public.
7. Co-operating with the school.
8. Better Speech.

When a car has been in use for some time, the muffler often becomes clogged, causing the motor to run irregularly and appear to have less than normal power. Whether the muffler is at fault can be determined by disconnecting the exhaust pipe and noting if there is any improvement in performance of the motor.

16. Telling stories to little children.
17. Rhythmic play and music appreciation.
18. Physical changes at different ages.
19. The child and his eating habits.
20. Overcoming bad habits.
21. Causes of misbehavior.
22. After high school—what?
23. How to make puppets and give a puppet play.

Methodist Notes

Sunday School at 9:00.
The Sunday school serves as a mighty fine stepping stone into the church, step in and worship with us next Sunday. Fine attendance last Sunday.

Morning worship—10:00 Let's walk our faith rather than talk it. Devotional life, like music, develops with exercise. Before your dreams come true, you have to wake up. Do not forget the Boy's Club next Wednesday evening. Our scrambled supper will be at 6 o'clock. Do not eat at home. We haven't forgotten the good attendance and fine time we had last week. Every member come and bring a friend.

The minister plans to be back to preach at this time. You are all invited to each service.

F. W. Henke, Pastor
Lenten Services

Dr. John Timothy Stone, D. D., President of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Chicago, will be the speaker at the Lenten services in the Methodist church in Dixon, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, March 5, 6, and 7. Dr. Stone is one of the outstanding preachers of America today and he always has a real soul-thrilling message.

These services are under the auspices of the churches of the Dixon Ministerial Association which extends a cordial invitation to the public to be present.

Whether the muffler is at fault can be determined by disconnecting the exhaust pipe and noting if there is any improvement in performance of the motor.

DEPENDABLE SERVICE FOR 84 YEARS

Salesmen of Our Service

Friends of the Illinois Central System have remarked admiringly upon the efforts of employees in all departments of the railroad to obtain freight and passengers.

"We know you have a sales department," they say, "but it looks at times as if it takes in the whole railroad."

Such comments show that we have a live organization. Traffic is the bread and butter of the railroad and should be sought by every member of the railway family.

Efforts by employees in all departments to add to the business of the railroad also are a recommendation of its service. They demonstrate that the service is performed by conscientious employees who have pride in their work, and it takes that to make good service.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

L. A. Downs

President, Illinois Central System

Has Atmosphere Of Refinement

BLACKHAWK HOTEL HAS NEW INNERSPRING MATTRESSES.

The Blackhawk Hotel, conveniently located in the heart of Dixon, has become well recognized in both the social and commercial activity of this section. People in ever increasing numbers are forced, because of their business and various other reasons, to make the hotel a home away from home, and one prefers to stop at the hotel that affords real comfort and convenience at reasonable rates.

The management of the Blackhawk Hotel has realized that to maintain a modern service and receive patrons from every station in life, it is necessary to have the rates within the reach of all. To prove that Mr. Thos. J. Burke, the proprietor and manager, has attained this object, it may be said that whenever a hotel of this region is mentioned, the Blackhawk receives high recognition.

All the rooms there, are comfortably furnished, tastefully decorated and have plenty of ventilation. They give the advantage of excellent service, which is of the highest character and provides for most anything desired.

Recently new Innerspring mattresses have been put in. These mattresses were purchased from local Dixon merchants.

Special rates are maintained for those who wish to stay by the week and a home resident is as welcome as the traveling man. One can be assured there is no better home away from home than the Blackhawk Hotel.

Do you know the daily and weekly rates here?
